

JNH Apps for iPhone, iPad and Android

Data Interpretation

Data interpretation is essential to all clinicians who care for critically ill patients. The ability to recognize common patterns of disease or investigation results is fundamental to establishing the correct diagnosis. This app will be valuable to all critical care clinicians by providing them with instant "experience", so that when they come across something in practice, they will be able to recognize it.

